

How your support is helping us make a difference

Our goal is to equip a generation with the confidence to recognise coercive control and stalking, and ensure that the criminal justice system and support services have a thorough understanding of the issues involved. We need to empower victims to seek help much sooner, and to build a society that reacts in the right way when they do.

1 in 5 women
 1 in 10 men are stalked

78% of victims
 have PTSD symptoms

94%

murders of females preceded by stalking behaviour young people experience stalking

35%

1 in 4 young people don't know stalking is a crime

How

Ensuring that young people receive formal education and signposting about stalking

Using social media to create awareness amongst young people and foster support and empathy for one another

Building recognition of stalking and confidence in handling it within young people's adult support networks

Training professionals to ensure victims are fully supported and protocols are followed

Working with partners across the sector and ensure our continuing involvement in training and campaigns

Our PSHE resources have been downloaded 6221 times talks given to more than 4000 professionals

300

schools are using our PSHE lessons

3000

impressions per day on Twitter

We are training professionals and university students to become qualified Stalking Awareness Ambassadors For Education

SAAAFE

We are working with young people and Alice Ruggles Trust Youth Ambassadors to create animated videos and films

195

attended our conference on stalking amongst young people